

TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of Abbreviations	ix
Introduction	1
1. Coming Together (1916–1919): Thurneysen, Kutter and the Blumhardts	7
Background to the Barth–Brunner Relationship	7
The Beginning of Barth and Brunner’s Theological Alliance (1916–1919)	11
Summary	21
2. Common Front (1919–1924): Rejection of the Schleiermacherian Tradition	27
A Movement Emerges (1919–1921)	27
From Pastors to Professors (1922–1924)	37
Schleiermacher (1924)	44
Summary	53
3. Back-to-Back (1924–1928): Dogmatic vs. Philosophical Theology	65
Barth’s First Dogmatics (1924–1925)	65
Brunner: Philosophy, Revelation, and Law (1924–1925)	70
Interlude: Correspondence (1925–1927)	80
Major New Works (1927)	81
“The Beginning of the Hardening of the Arteries” (1928)	87
Summary	90
4. Coming Apart (1929–1932): Eristics, Ethics, and Anselm	101
Task and Method in Theology (1929–1930)	101
Interlude: Ethics—“Command” or “Orders”? (1927–1932)	116
The Battle Lines are Drawn (1931–1932)	119
Summary	130

5. Breaking Up (1933–1935): The “German-Christians” and Natural Theology	141
Crisis in the German Church (1933–1934)	141
The Natural Theology Debate (1934)	149
Summary	167
6. The End of a Relationship (1932–1936): The Oxford Group Movement	177
The Oxford Group Movement	177
Brunner and the Oxford Group Movement	180
Barth vs. Brunner on the Oxford Group Movement	182
Summary	191
7. Reflections	201
Further Interaction	201
Key Factors in the Barth–Brunner Debate	204
Conclusion	217
Bibliography	231
Works by Karl Barth	231
Works by Emil Brunner	236
Works by Others	240
Index	255