

Table of contents

From Afrikaans to Zurich German: Comparative studies in Germanic syntax	1
Jutta M. Hartmann & László Molnárfi
I. Studies on predication
The Nom/Acc alternation in Germanic	13
Halldór Ármann Sigurðsson
Shape conservation, Holmberg's generalization and predication	51
Olaf Koeneman
Quirky verb-second in Afrikaans: Complex predicates and head movement	89
Mark de Vos
Nominal arguments and nominal predicates	115
Marit Julien
II. Studies on the (pro)nominal system
Pronominal noun phrases, number specifications, and null nouns	143
Dorian Roehrs
Toward a syntactic theory of number neutralisation: The Dutch pronouns je 'you' and ze 'them'	181
Gertjan Postma
Long relativization in Zurich German as resumptive prolepsis	201
Martin Salzmann
III. Historical studies
Auxiliary selection and counterfactuality in the history of English and Germanic	237
Thomas McFadden and Artemis Alexiadou

The loss of residual “head-final” orders and remnant fronting in Late Middle English: Causes and consequences	263
Mary Theresa Biberauer and Ian Gareth Roberts
Syntactic sources of word-formation processes: Evidence from Old English and Old High German	299
Carola Trips
Index	329