

Contents

Introduction

The importance of processions in Milan.....	v
The sources of the transcriptions	v
The Ambrosian repertory of processional chants	vii
Psallenda or antiphona	xi
Psalmody en route.....	xi
Differences in the contents of Ambrosian books.....	xiv
The age and formation of the repertory	xv
The style of the psallendae.....	xvii
The late usage of the psallendae	xvii
Notes for the transcriptions	xviii

The transcriptions in alphabetical order	1
---	----------

Appendices

Alphabetical list of incipits	191
Occasions of the Temporale in liturgical order with the assigned psallendae alphabetically	197
Psallendae assigned in the festivals of the saints	204
Psallendae of the Commune dominicarum	210
Psallendae of the Commune sanctorum	210
Psallendae de mortuis (quando fertur corpus ad sepulchrum).....	212
Psallendae of the three-day litany.....	213
Psallendae assigned in processions to or between the baptistries after matins and vespers	214
Transcriptions with liquescents	216
Psallendae reassigned in the mass and office in the Vimercate antiphoners	217