

Table of Contents

IX List of Contributors

XV Foreword

Part 1: Economic Perspectives

- 3 Understanding and Measuring Hope: The Interdisciplinary Challenge of the Hope Barometer 1.0
Martijn Burger, Patrick Nullens, Steven C. van den Heuvel & Emma Pleeging
- 21 Economics as Discipline of Hope
Lans Bovenberg
- 49 Hope and the Paradox of Merit: The New Dogmas of Business Religion
Luigino Bruni
- 69 The Dual Nature of Hope and its Implications for Economics
Luk Bouckaert
- 79 Economic “Faith” and Hope: An Archaeological-Historicist Interpretation
Emilio Di Somma

Part 2: Theological Perspectives

- 95 Hope, Prophecy, and Prediction in Jacques Ellul’s Christian Realism
Jacob Rollison
- 107 Is there Hope of a Conversation between Wall Street and Jerusalem? Appropriating John Wesley’s Evangelical Economics for a Current Dialogue Between Economics and Evangelical Theology
Michael Borowski

- 121 Sin and the Limits of (Social) Progress: Insights from Emil Brunner's Theological Anthropology for Economics and Other Social Sciences

Arttu Makipaa

- 137 Economic Theological Anthropology and Metaphysics of Money: The Challenge of Optimism for Active Christian Hope

Daniel Minch

Part 3: Case Studies

- 153 Leaders as Harbingers of Hope: A Critical Analysis of Hope, Identity and Power

Jack Barentsen

- 169 Empowered to Hope: The Impact of Social Entrepreneurship on Social Exclusion

Pavel Chalupnicek

- 185 Encountering Suffering and Torture: Ignatius' Hope in Contrast to a Stoic Approach as Proposed by Nancy Sherman

H. H. Drake Williams, III

- 199 Hope: An Essential Capacity for Human Development

Steven C. van den Heuvel

- 211 Pentecostalism, Poverty and Economic Development: Towards an Economics of Hope for Sub-Saharan Africa

Joseph Bosco Bangura

- 225 Bibliography