Contents

List of Illustrations ix

Introduction

PART ONE Anxieties of Appetite: Created Needs in the Enlightenment, 1750–1800

Introduction to Part One

1 Why We Eat: The Ancient Legacy

2 "False or Defective" Appetite in the Medical Enlightenment

3 Human and Animal Appetite in Natural History and Physiology

PART TWO The Elusiveness of Appetite: Laboratory and Clinic, 1800–1850

Introduction to Part Two

4 Perils and Pleasures of Appetite at 1800: Xavier Bichat and Erasmus Darwin

5 The Physiology of Appetite to 1850

6 Extremes and Perplexities of Appetite in Clinical Medicine

PART THREE Intelligent or "Blind and Unconscious"? Appetite, 1850–1900

Introduction to Part Three

7 The Drive to Eat in Nutritional Physiology