PART 1: ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT – CONCEPTS AND APPROACHES

Introduction
T.N. SRINIVASAN	3
Chapter 1
The Concept of Development
AMARTYA SEN	9
1. The Background	10
2. Production, growth, and development	12
3. Characteristics, functionings, and living	15
4. Freedom and capability	16
5. Weights and rankings	18
6. Values, instruments, and objects	20
7. Conclusion	23
References	24
Chapter 2
The Roots of Development Theory
W. ARTHUR LEWIS	27
1. Introduction	28
2. Sectoral imbalance	28
3. Overall balance	31
4. Organization	34
5. Conclusion	36
References	37

*Chapter 3Alternative Approaches to Development Economics

PRANAB BARDHAN	39
1. Introduction	40
2. Theory of the household	40
3. Institutions and resource allocation	45
4. Income distribution and growth	51
5. Trade and development	57
6. Economic policy and the state	63
7. Concluding remarks	66
References	68

*Chapter 4Analytics of Development: Dualism

GUSTAV RANIS	73
1. Introduction	74
2. Dualism in the history of economic thought	75
3. The modern analytics of closed dualism	76
4. Dualism in the open economy	86
References	91

*Chapter 5Economic Organization, Information, and Development

JOSEPH E. STIGLITZ	93
1. Introduction	94
2. Basic tenets and objectives of analysis	96
2.1. Stylized facts	96
2.2. Alternative approaches	96
3. The theory of rural organization	105
3.1. The organization of the family	105
3.2. The landlord-tenant relationship: The sharecropping puzzle	115
3.3. Unemployment in the rural sector	125
3.4. The rural sector as a whole: The interlinkage of markets	133
4. The urban sector	134
5. Market equilibrium	136
6. Government pricing policies, wage subsidies, and cost-benefit analysis	140
7. The development process	142
7.1. Factor supplies	142
7.2. Technical change and entrepreneurship	147
7.3. Development strategies	150

8. Concluding remarks	153
8.1. Choice of managers	153
8.2. Market failures and government failures	153
References	157

Chapter 6

Long-Run Income Distribution and Growth

LANCE TAYLOR and PERSIO ARIDA

161

1. Introduction	162
2. The heirs of Schumpeter	163
3. Demand-driven models	165
4. Resource limitations and reproduction	169
5. Shades of Marx	174
6. The neoclassical resurgence – trade	178
7. Structuralists versus monetarists	184
8. Patterns of growth	187
9. Conclusions	189
References	190

PART 2: STRUCTURAL TRANSFORMATION

Introduction

HOLLIS CHENERY

197

Chapter 7

Patterns of Structural Change

MOSHE SYRQUIN

203

0. Introduction	205
1. The study of structural change	206
1.1. Structural change in economic history	209
1.2. Structural change in development economics	211
1.3. The need for a typology	214
2. Empirical research on the structural transformation	216
2.1. Bases for comparative analysis	216
2.2. A unique path of development?	217
2.3. The methodology of comparative analysis	218
2.4. Time-series vs. cross-section studies	221
3. Patterns of growth and accumulation	223
3.1. Growth patterns	223
3.2. Accumulation	225

4. Changes in sector proportions	228
4.1. The accounting framework	230
4.2. Final demand	231
4.3. Intermediate demand	231
4.4. Trade	232
4.5. Structure of production: Broad sectors	235
4.6. Post-war patterns	239
4.7. Manufacturing: Disaggregated results	242
5. Structure and growth	243
5.1. Sectoral contributions to growth	244
5.2. Typology of development patterns	248
6. Accounting for the transformation	250
6.1. Growth accounting: Demand side decomposition	250
6.2. Growth accounting: Supply side	254
6.3. Resource shifts and productivity growth	255
7. Relative prices and exchange rate conversions	258
7.1. Relative prices	259
7.2. Exchange-rate conversions	262
8. Approaches to policy	265
References	268

Chapter 8

The Agricultural Transformation

C. PETER TIMMER	275
1. Introduction	276
2. The process of agricultural transformation	279
2.1. Evolving stages	280
2.2. Agriculture and economic development	283
2.3. The role of the agricultural sector	288
3. Why agriculture is different	291
3.1. Decision-making in agriculture	292
3.2. Characteristics of agricultural production functions	294
3.3. The farm household as both producer and consumer	299
3.4. What difference does the difference make?	300
4. Transforming agriculture	302
4.1. The sources and dynamics of technical change	302
4.2. Unresolved issues	313
5. Agricultural development strategy	321
5.1. Policies for "getting agriculture moving"	321
5.2. Alternative strategies for maintaining the transformation process	323
5.3. Agricultural policy and structural change	327
References	328

*Chapter 9Industrialization and Trade

HOWARD PACK	333
1. Introduction	334
2. A retrospective	336
2.1. The compression of the industrialization process	336
2.2. Initial conditions	337
2.3. The elasticity of factor supplies	338
2.4. The role of rationality	341
2.5. The role of international trade	341
3. The evolving structure of production	342
3.1. Normal patterns	342
3.2. The impact of policy intervention	344
3.3. Import substitution, exports, and the patterns of growth	344
4. The impact of trade on industrial performance	346
4.1. Industrial productivity – a key variable	346
4.2. The costs of protection	347
4.3. Trade orientation and the growth of total factor productivity	348
4.4. The empirical evidence	352
4.5. Cross-country models	356
4.6. The large country puzzle	357
5. Micro studies of productivity	358
5.1. Early intercountry comparisons of productivity levels	358
5.2. The Hirschman hypothesis	359
5.3. Firm-level productivity studies in the less developed countries	360
6. Employment creation in the manufacturing sector	365
6.1. The choice of technology	366
6.2. Factor market distortions and information costs	369
6.3. The aggregate gains from improved technology choice	370
7. Conclusions	371
References	372

*Chapter 10Saving and Development

MARK GERSOVITZ	381
1. Introduction	382
2. Personal savings	383
2.1. A simple model of individual saving	384
2.2. Evidence on the simple model	385
2.3. Uncertainty and saving	390
2.4. Borrowing constraints	392
2.5. Education and asset choice	394

2.6. Health, nutrition and savings	396
2.7. Bequests and savings	400
2.8. The family and savings	401
3. Savings at the national level	403
3.1. Aggregation over cohorts	404
3.2. Income distribution and aggregate savings	407
3.3. Corporate savings	411
3.4. The role of government	412
3.5. Evidence at the aggregate level	413
4. Conclusions	418
References	419

Chapter 11

Migration and Urbanization

JEFFREY G. WILLIAMSON	425
1. The problem	426
2. The urban transition	427
2.1. Quantifying the urban transition	427
2.2. Migrant selectivity bias	430
2.3. Selectivity bias, the brain drain, and remittances	431
2.4. City growth, migration, and labor absorption	433
3. Disequilibrating labor market shocks and equilibrating migrant responses	433
3.1. Disequilibrium and wage gaps	433
3.2. Are migrants rational?	435
3.3. Are there too many city immigrants?	437
4. What does “overurbanization” mean?	439
4.1. Push, pull, and the engines of city growth	439
4.2. The urban bias	441
5. How do urban labor markets work?	442
5.1. The evolution of conventional wisdom	442
5.2. The Todaro model	443
5.3. Critique: How do urban labor markets really work?	445
5.4. Some evidence	446
6. Migration and city growth in general equilibrium: What are the driving forces?	449
6.1. What drives Third World migration and city growth?	449
6.2. Modeling migration and city growth	453
6.3. Understanding the past and projecting the future	455
7. Where do we go from here?	459
References	461

PART 3: HUMAN RESOURCES AND LABOR MARKETS*Introduction

T.N. SRINIVASAN 469

*Chapter 12Economic Approaches to Population Growth

NANCY BIRDSALL 477

1. Introduction and overview 478
2. Recent demographic change in the developing world 479
3. Macroeconomic analyses of the economic consequences of population growth 483
  - 3.1. Malthus and successor pessimists 486
  - 3.2. The optimists 490
  - 3.3. The revisionists 493
4. Microeconomic foundations: The determinants of fertility 501
  - 4.1. Economic models of fertility behavior 503
  - 4.2. Fertility models: Differences, conceptual limitations 509
  - 4.3. Empirical studies of fertility behavior 512
  - 4.4. Endogenous fertility, optimal population size, and social welfare 522
5. The welfare economics of public policies to reduce fertility 523
  - 5.1. Externalities 523
  - 5.2. Fertility control and market failure 525
  - 5.3. Specific policies 526
6. Summary and conclusions 529
- References 535

*Chapter 13Education Investments and Returns

T. PAUL SCHULTZ 543

1. Introduction and preview 544
  - 1.1. An overview 545
  - 1.2. Problems: Conceptual and empirical 547
2. National educational systems: Interpretation of aggregate patterns 550
  - 2.1. World trends 551
  - 2.2. Adjustment of the educational system to demand and supply 557
  - 2.3. A model of the educational system 562
  - 2.4. An empirical decomposition of educational expenditures 564
  - 2.5. Estimates of school expenditure equations 568
  - 2.6. Sex differences in school enrollment rates 571
  - 2.7. Regional patterns in residuals 573
  - 2.8. Cross-sectional findings and time-series forecasts 575

3. Alternative models of education and earnings, data, and policy implications	577
4. Rates of return to schooling in market activities	585
4.1. Student ability, parent background, and school quality	587
4.2. Labor supply and unemployment	591
4.3. Occupational choice	593
4.4. The education and productivity of farmers	597
4.5. Migration	599
4.6. Male–female comparisons of returns	602
4.7. Interactions with educational returns	605
4.8. Efficiency and equity	606
5. Nonmarket production and schooling	607
6. Policy	610
7. Conclusions	615
Appendix	618

Health and Nutrition

JERE R. BEHRMAN and ANIL B. DEOLALIKAR	631
1. Introduction	633
2. Theoretical framework	637
2.1. Micro considerations: Household production functions and reduced-form demands for health and nutrients	637
2.2. Supply considerations	649
2.3. Macro or aggregate considerations	649
3. Measurement and estimation problems in health and nutrition relations	650
3.1. Measurement of health status	650
3.2. Measurement of nutrient intakes and nutritional status	653
3.3. Measurement of non-nutrient health-related inputs	656
3.4. Measurement of prices, health-related inputs, and assets	657
3.5. Estimation problems	658
4. Empirical studies of determinants of health and nutrition in developing countries	660
4.1. Determinants of health	660
4.2. Determinants of nutrients	674
5. Empirical studies of the impact of health and nutrition in developing countries	683
5.1. Impact on labor productivity	683
5.2. Impact on schooling productivity	688

5.3. Impact of female nutrition on fertility	689
5.4. Impact of infant mortality on fertility	690
6. Empirical studies on supply considerations and related policies	692
6.1. Food subsidies	692
6.2. Other health goods and services subsidies	696
6.3. Impact of macro adjustment policies on health and nutrition	697
7. Summary and conclusions	698
7.1. Summary of available studies	698
7.2. Directions for future research	702
References	704

Chapter 15

Labor Markets in Low-Income Countries

MARK R. ROSENZWEIG	713
1. Introduction	714
2. Employment and wage determination in rural labor markets	715
2.1. Surplus labor, disguised employment and unemployment	715
2.2. The family enterprise model and agricultural dualism	728
3. Rural labor contracts: Risk, information and incentives problems	733
3.1. Casual and permanent laborers: Spot and future markets for labor	736
3.2. Tenancy contracts	738
4. Geographic mobility	743
4.1. The basic human capital model of migration	744
4.2. Information and capital market constraints on mobility	745
4.3. Two-sector unemployment equilibrium models	746
4.4. Risk, remittances and family behavior	751
4.5. Heterogeneity and selective migration	753
5. Urban labor markets	754
5.1. Diversity and unemployment	754
5.2. Urban dualism and dual labor markets	756
6. Conclusion	757
References	759

Chapter 16

Credit Markets and Interlinked Transactions

CLIVE BELL	763
1. Introduction	764
2. Credit markets	766
2.1. The credit contract	769
2.2. Innovation and the rate of interest	782
2.3. Public policy	783
2.4. Some evidence	791

3. Interlinked transactions	797
3.1. The causes of interlinking	798
3.2. The interlinking of tenancy with credit: The principal–agent approach	803
3.3. An alternative to contract-taking equilibrium: The Nash bargaining solution	810
3.4. Interlinking and innovation	813
3.5. Welfare and income distribution	816
3.6. Policy reforms	823
