

Survey of Contents

| Section |                                                         | Page |
|---------|---------------------------------------------------------|------|
| 1-18    | I. Introduction                                         | 3    |
| 2-16    | A. Clarification of the Subject                         | 3    |
| 17-18   | B. Outline and Method                                   | 11   |
| 19-39   | II. Fundamental Principles of Justice                   | 14   |
| 20-22   | A. Religious Systems of Law                             | 14   |
| 23-39   | B. Western Legal Systems                                | 15   |
| 40-84   | III. Constitutional Statutes                            | 25   |
| 40-45   | A. Concept, Existence and Form                          | 25   |
| 46-54   | B. Adoption and Amendment                               | 27   |
| 55-63   | C. Contents                                             | 31   |
| 64-84   | D. Control of the Constitutionality of Statutes         | 35   |
| 85-119  | IV. Legislation                                         | 47   |
| 85-87   | A. Introduction                                         | 47   |
| 88-97   | B. Holder of the Legislative Power                      | 48   |
| 98-101  | C. Actual Role of Statutes                              | 53   |
| 102-104 | D. Different Kinds of Statutes                          | 55   |
| 105-119 | E. Codification and Consolidation                       | 56   |
| 120-145 | V. Administrative and Contractual Regulations           | 67   |
| 121-131 | A. Administrative Regulations                           | 67   |
| 132-145 | B. Administrative Circulars and Contractual Regulations | 72   |
| 146-171 | VI. Interpretation of Statutes                          | 82   |
| 146-151 | A. General Considerations                               | 82   |
| 152-158 | B. Principles of Interpretation                         | 84   |
| 159-170 | C. New Methods                                          | 88   |
| 171     | D. Conclusion                                           | 96   |
| 172-203 | VII. Custom                                             | 97   |
| 172-173 | A. Introduction                                         | 97   |
| 174-181 | B. Historical Role                                      | 97   |
| 182-186 | C. Elements of Custom                                   | 101  |
| 187-193 | D. Custom and Other Sources of Law                      | 102  |
| 194-203 | E. Factual Role of Customs                              | 106  |
| 204-259 | VIII. Court Decisions                                   | 111  |
| 204-207 | A. Introduction                                         | 111  |
| 208-209 | B. Muslim Law and Hindu Law                             | 113  |
| 210-214 | C. Lay Legal Systems - History                          | 113  |
| 215-224 | D. The Romano-Germanic Family                           | 115  |
| 225-252 | E. Common Law Countries                                 | 120  |
| 253-256 | F. Mixed Legal Systems                                  | 135  |
| 257-259 | G. Conclusion                                           | 136  |
| 260-301 | IX. Academic Works, Reason, Equity                      | 138  |
| 260-269 | A. Introduction                                         | 138  |
| 270-279 | B. Academic Works                                       | 142  |
| 280-285 | C. Reason                                               | 145  |
| 286-301 | D. Equity                                               | 148  |
| 302-345 | X. International and Community Law                      | 158  |
| 302-306 | A. Introduction                                         | 158  |
| 307-313 | B. International Conventions                            | 159  |
| 314-325 | C. Unions                                               | 163  |
| 326-345 | D. National Laws                                        | 169  |
| 346-384 | XI. Information on the Law                              | 180  |
| 347-380 | A. Information for Lawyers                              | 180  |
| 381-384 | B. Information for the Public                           | 198  |
| 385-404 | XII. Conclusion                                         | 200  |
| 386-390 | A. Sources of Law and Comparative Law                   | 200  |
| 391-396 | B. The Fallacies of Legal Theory                        | 201  |
| 397-401 | C. Efficacy of the Law                                  | 204  |
| 402-404 | D. Law Today and Law Tomorrow                           | 206  |
|         | Detailed Table of Contents                              | 208  |

© 1984 J. C. B. MOHR (PAUL SIEBECK) , TÜBINGEN , AND MARTINUS NIJHOFF PUBLISHERS ,
THE HAGUE · BOSTON · LONDON

THIS CONTRIBUTION HAS BEEN FINANCIALLY SPONSORED BY THE STIFTUNG VOLKSWAGENWERK IN HANNOVER (GERMANY)