

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Prologue: Arpilleras	ix
Marjorie Agosín
1. Introduction: Democracies in the Shadow of Memory	1
Merilee S. Grindle
I. Remembering and Democracy: Memory and Its Place in Democratic Institutions
2. Memory as a Pillar for Democracy and Reconciliation in Chile	23
Sergio Bitar
3. Searching for Irma: A Public and Private Quest for Memory	31
June Erlick
4. Unearthing Haiti's Buried Memories	53
Michèle Montas
5. Memory and the Search for a Democratic Society	75
Salomón Lerner Febres
II. The Challenges of "Capturing" Memory
6. Operation Memory: Contemporary Argentine Novelists Wrestle with History	95
Marguerite Feitlowitz
7. Acts of Opening, Acts of Freedom: Women Write Mexico 1968 (Roberta Avendaño's On Freedom and Imprisonment)	121
Susana Draper
8. Preserving Maya Oral Literature Through Recorded Memories	137
Ava Berinstein

III. Citizenship and Democratic Futures

9. The Weight of the Past, the Politics of the Present, and the Future of Democracy in Brazil and the Southern Cone 157
Frances Hagopian
10. The Memory of Politics: Pre-Coup Democracy and
Chile's Democratic Transition. 183
Peter Winn
11. A Place for the Dead in the City of the Living: The Central
Cemetery of Bogotá 215
Paolo Vignolo
12. Summing Up: Many Voices, Many Histories, Many Memories . . . 243
Erin Goodman
- Appendix: Conference Program. 257