

CONTENTS

List of Tables	page xii
List of Contributors	xiii
Foreword	xv
MICHAEL D. MCGINNIS
Acknowledgements	xviii
List of Cases	xx

Introduction:

The Potential of a Polycentric European Union	1
JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN AND ANA BOBIĆ

PART I

1 Polycentricity as a Theory of Governance	9
JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN
I Development of a Theory of Governance	9
A Polycentricity: Definitions and Aims	12
B Self-Governance in Polycentric Systems	16
C Democracy and Self-Governance	17
D Vertical and Horizontal Relationships in Polycentric Systems	20
II Polycentric Governance: Attributes, Institutional Essentials, and Prerequisites	22
A Attributes	23
B Institutional Essentials	25
C Prerequisites	26
2 Polycentric Features of the European Union	28
JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN
I Polycentricity as Distinct Theory of EU Governance	28

A	Polycentricity's Descriptive Distinctiveness	30
B	Normative Distinctiveness	35
II	Polycentric Features of the EU	40
A	Attributes	40
B	Institutional Essentials	43
C	Prerequisites	46
III	Polycentric Potential and Pitfalls in the EU	47
3	Demoicratic Self-Government in the European Union's Polycentric System: Theoretical Remarks	51
	FRANCIS CHENEVAL
I	Self-Governing Decision Units	53
A	Competence-Competence	53
B	Demoicracy	58
II	Self-Government and Polycentricity	61
A	Polycentricity and 'Politics'	63
B	Verticality and Horizontality	64
III	Polycentricity and Self-Government in the EU – Conceptual and Normative Underpinnings	66
IV	Conclusion	76
4	Polycentric Subsidiarity	78
	JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN AND KALYPSO NICOLAÏDIS
I	Redefining Subsidiarity	82
A	Subsidiarity in the EU: The Principle in Practice	83
B	Subsidiarity in Polycentric Theory	88
C	Bridging the Gap with Demoicratic Theory	92
II	Mapping Polycentric Subsidiarity	96
A	Self-Governance	96
B	Horizontality	100
C	Organic Change	103
III	Concluding Remarks	106

5 Polycentricity and the Internal Market 108

JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN AND ANA BOBIĆ

I The Internal Market as a Polycentric Structure 110

II Institutional Essentials in the Internal Market 112

A Freedom and Ability to Enter and Exit 113

i Free Movement of Persons, Services, and Establishment 114

ii Free Movement of Goods and Capital 116

iii Free Movement and the Practice of Enter and Exit 118

B Enforcement of a Shared System of Rules 121

i Judicial Enforcement 122

ii Arbitration 127

C Peaceful Contestation of Shared Rules 129

III Polycentric Internal Market within a Polycentric EU 136

PART II

6 The Shared System of Rules in a Polycentric European Union 141

ANA BOBIĆ

I A Shared System of Rules in Polycentric Systems 142

II Defining the Shared System of Rules in the EU 146

A Identifying the Shared System of Rules 147

i The Nature of the European Union 147

ii Vertical and Horizontal Institutional Relationships 149

iii Key Values and Principles 152

iv EU Citizenship 152

v Rules on the Internal Market 153

vi National Constitutions 154

B Self-Correction of the EU's Shared System of Rules 155

III	Obstacles in Achieving the Full Polycentric Potential	159
IV	Conclusions	161
7	The Promises and Drawbacks of European Union Citizenship for a Polycentric Union	163
	MARTIJN VAN DEN BRINK
I	Walloon	165
II	Citizenship in a Polycentric Union	171
	A Non-Discrimination on Grounds of Nationality as a Means of Self-Governance	172
	B Principles of Free Movement as a Means to Cooperation between Local Government	175
III	The Democratic Rights of EU Citizenship	180
IV	Conclusion	184
8	Self-Organisation of Third-Country Nationals in the European Union: Polycentric Governance by the 'Other'	186
	IRIS GOLDNER LANG
I	Informal Self-Organisation	189
II	Formal Self-Organisation	193
	A NGOs as Champions of Refugees' Rights	195
	B The Role of Businesses in Third-Country Nationals' Self-Organisation	197
	C The Role of Cities in Formal Self-Organisation	199
III	Causes and Objectives of Self-Organisation	202
IV	Polycentric Self-Organisation?	203
9	Peaceful Contestation	208
	DAMJAN KUKOVEC
I	Peaceful Contestation within the Polycentric Theory	209
	A Contestation in Polycentric Theory	209
	B When Is Contestation 'Peaceful'?	211

II	Self-Governance through Peaceful Contestation	213
A	Self-Governance and Institutional Design	213
B	The Notion of 'Public Entrepreneur'	217
C	Public Entrepreneur in a Public Enforcement Procedure	220
D	An Ideal Type of Peaceful Contestation in Polycentric Theory	222
III	Conclusions	224
10	Access to Justice in Polycentric Governance	226
	LETICIA DíEZ SÁNCHEZ
I	Access to Justice in Polycentric Systems	227
A	Expanded and Restricted Access to Justice	228
B	Challenges to Courts as Conflict Mediators	236
II	Legal Mobilisation at the European Court of Justice	240
III	Judicial Review of the European Citizens' Initiative	248
IV	Conclusion	252
11	Access to Information in Polycentric Governance	254
	VIGJILENCA ABAZI
I	Comparing 'Traditional' and Polycentric Approaches to Access to Information	256
A	The 'Traditional' Approach: Accountability and Participation	257
B	Enabling Polycentric Self-Governance through Information	260
II	Parameters for Polycentric Access to Information	263
A	Access to Information as a Polycentric Prerequisite	263

	B Effects of Polycentric Governance on Access to Information	264
III	An Appraisal of Polycentric Access to Information within the European Union	266
	A Direct Access: The Right of Access to Public Documents	266
	i Motivation: Fostering Understanding and Knowledge	267
	ii Capacity: Ensuring Equal Access	268
	iii Contribution: Societal Groups and Decision Centres	269
	B Access through Allies: Safeguarding Information Flows	270
IV	Conclusion	274
12	The Capacity to Learn in the Polycentric European Union	276
	SACHA GARBEN
	I The Capacity to Learn and Polycentric Governance	277
	II Collective Learning as a Prerequisite for a Polycentric EU	279
	A The Council and National Governments	280
	B The European Parliament	285
	C National Parliaments	287
	D Regional Authorities	290
	E Social Partners	291
	F Non-Governmental Organisations	292
	III Individual Learning as a Prerequisite for a Polycentric EU	293
	IV Learning as a Benefit of EU Polycentricity	296
	A Laboratory Federalism and Polycentric Theory	297
	B Polycentric Learning in the EU	300
V	Conclusion	304

Conclusions:

Pathways to Polycentricity 306

JOSEPHINE VAN ZEBEN AND ANA BOBIĆ

I Theoretical Foundations: Polycentric Attributes,
Institutional Essentials and Prerequisites 306

II Institutional Essentials and Prerequisites in EU
Polycentricity 308

III There and Back Again – Views from the Road 310

A European Itineraries 310

B Global and Local Travels 312

Index 315